

Care and Feeding of your Tesseract

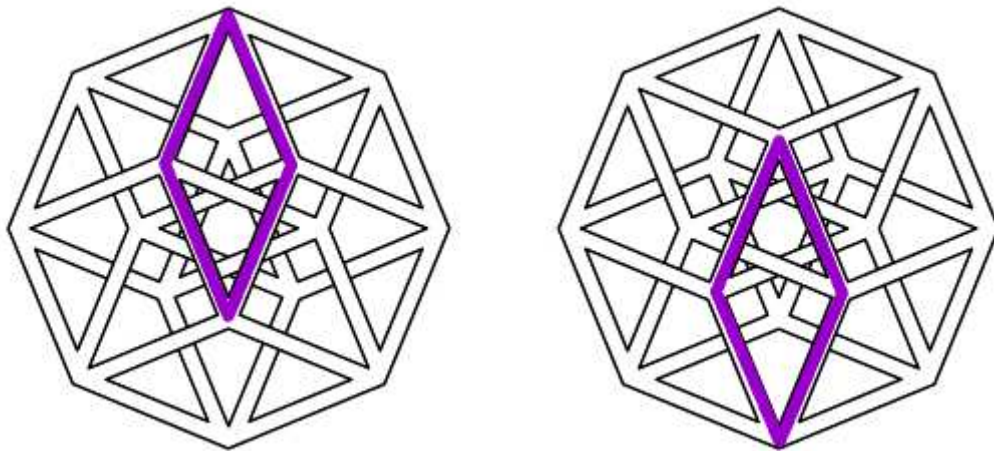

Congratulations on your purchase of a 4D hypercube or tesseract! As an owner of this high vibrational tool for ascension, you are automatically a member of the Tesseractian High Command.

First of all, to imbue this shape with your own vibration, I suggest that you hold it in your hands and blow onto it.

This shape is "self cleansing." If you desire to place it in sea salt or under moonlight, feel free to do so, however this is not necessary.

This shape connects you in a positive and life affirming way with 1) all of the infinite versions of yourself in the multiverse and 2) everyone else wearing this shape in this and all parallel universes.

This shape does have a polarity to it. On the face of the tesseract, you will notice an open diamond shape. This open diamond should point up (or down) when the pendant is worn. I prefer to wear mine with the diamond pointing upwards on the face that is outwards. You may wish to wear it the other way. That's fine too.

OR

You can use this shape to open and "calibrate" your chakras. Just hold it over the chakras one at a time and visualize the energy flowing inbetween your chakra and the tesseract. It helps to also visualize the color associated with that chakra. It can also be used for chakras which lie outside of the physical body.

You can use this amazing shape to assist you in manifesting your heart's desires. Simply place the tesseract between the palms of your hands in front of your chest and visualize those things that you truly desire while you focus on the positive emotions associated with the things, people and situations that you wish to manifest in your life.

The tesseract can also be used to reduce physical pain by holding it in close proximity to the area of your body that is in pain. It is an awesome tool for people who are empathic as it helps to ground and shield them from other people's emotions and vibrations. By simply wearing this shape you will amplify and enhance your own vibration. By no means is this an exhaustive list of ways to use this powerful tool for ascension. Play and experiment.

I wish you love, joy, happiness and balance in your life. Feel free to contact me with any questions.

Namaste!
